TEEN PROBS

Man life sure is hard for me. I just turned 15. Acne, hormones, Catherine doesn't even notice me and don't get me started on WWI. It's hard. Rations, I'm a misogynist due to the time period, and Catherine STILL won't notice me! I told her that I thought she was too pretty to work in a factory to make up for the lack of men in the work field and she said "Are you sure you're not into men, but due to the time period and societal pressure, you are not going to come out?" What the hell kind of move is that? She's going to miss me when I get drafted.

How did my teenage son replace me as father?

October 12, 2019

My teenage son is the patriarch of the house and I don't know what to do about it.

So, a couple of years ago my son watched all five Rocky movies, and he has been so good at boxing ever since. Like, soooo good. And it took like a week of training after seeing the movies, then all of a sudden he turned on me. One day we were squaring up in the ole ring, the next he was beating me up and saying "I'm your dad now, eat this Tuna sandwich!" (I'm allergic to Tuna).

So, naturally, he assumed the role of house patriarch. He makes me take out the trash and also take out the recycling a lot. It's ridiculous! And my wife always takes his side. They just snicker as I take out loads and loads of trash and recycling, like 40 trips a day, probably. And it's like yah, I really hate taking out that garbage, but I also have no idea how they keep filling up the trash. It's always completely normal trash! There are no packing peanuts, there is no wrapping paper.

I know what you are thinking, I could just befriend the garbage man and that would help, right? Right? Well, HE watched the first three Karate Kid movies and now he beats me up every time I overfill our garbage, which is every single day for the last 793 days because we have so much waste material.

How do I get my son to stop forcing me to eat Tuna (no tolerance built up to date)? How do I befriend a garbageman who is very good at karate, but also isn't very kind? How do I get my wife, who is a dom, to stop getting turned on by all the household chores my son makes me do using his mighty boxing fists? Please help.

My lies framed an innocent soul
And it's too late to back out
Let alone apologize
But I can't stop thinking about it.

You don't have a clue
How torturous it is Watching a friend suffer
At the hands of a monster you created.

I can't expect anyone to understand
But I can't help but wonder
How much easier this would all be
If someone knew the truth.

If you are what you eat

STRANGER THINGS

The Stranger Things Kids are Growing Up, and they smoke Marlboro Red™ Cigarettes. Marlboro: "America's Luxury Cigarette."

Want to feel old? The Stranger Things kids are eighteen now, and you know what that means... puberty, romance, and being legally able to smoke Marlboro™ brand cigarettes: "America's Luxury Cigarette."

Finn Wolfhard

Now 18, Finn started on the show when he was just 12. His character, Mike, prefers girls now over his usual sci-fi board games. In 2017, Finn starred in his first feature film as Richie in It and has been featured in commercials for Marlboro™ Southern Cuts: A sweeter blend of Marlboros™ widely considered godly and delicious.

Millie Bobby Brown

Eleven is no longer the scared little girl in the woods we saw in season 1: she's blossomed into a badass young woman on the show and in real life. Her hair has grown out and the show writers have even given her a love interest. In real life, Millie's got a huge Instagram following, has made cameos in several music videos, and smokes a pack a day of Marlboro™ Blacks: A bold version of regular Marlboros™.

Caleb McLaughlin

In season 3, Lucas is back to join in the fight alongside his friends. In his down time, he's doing all he can to keep his new girlfriend Max happy. In real life, he's doing all he can to score a sweet pack of Marlboro™ No. 27s. It's not like he has a problem, he just really loves Marlboro™ No. 27s: A crisper, more acidic blend.

Gaten Matarazzo

In season 3, lovable Dustin is desperate to talk to Suzie, his super-smart long-distance girlfriend from camp. In real life, Gaten wants nothing more than one, just one puff of Marlboro™ Menthols: "Take a puff, it's springtime." He just needs his sweet sweet fix, but the Walgreens by his house doesn't sell menthols. Luckily, menthol cigarettes are available at CVS. CVS: "Health is Everything."

Noah Schnapp

In season 3, Will Byers is still struggling after his many battles with the monsters in the show, but he's also struggling with the fact that his friends seem to be growing up without him. In real life, Noah is struggling with beating his debilitating addiction to smoking Marlboro™ Cigarettes, America's Luxury Cigarette. Marlboro™ Cigarettes: "We all get addicted, once in our lives, to something that takes away the pain."

Community Doubtful That Local Soundcloud Rapper “Fucked yo bitch in the rari”

“I would believe one, maybe two bitches he fucked, but I find it preposterous that he could have fucked all of our bitches.”

Dear Teen Vogue

HELP! I'm in DISTRESS! God I didn't think high school would be this hard but I was wrong. I've been kind of sheltered my whole life so high school was a wake up call. There are so many trends and norms I wasn't aware of and I feel left out. Everyone's boobs are bigger and they just have this glow about them. You guessed it, they're PREGNANT and so so cool! God, I didn't even know teens could get pregnant but I was wrong, they can get pregnant and they love it. Everywhere I look, big ol' bellies and glorious popularity. If you're not pregnant, you might as well not exist. Teen Vogue, I need help! How do I get pregnant if I don't know where my vagina is? Also most of the boys in my school are too busy working to support their children to notice me! How do I get the attention of the average workaholic balding 16 year old? I could really use some advice, I'm worried I'll end up an old maid with no friends. A.k.a. Your average college graduate.

XOXO,

Victoria the Virgin

Scientists Close to Discovering What That Squiggly Parentheses Is

“We think it might be a sexy L.”

For years, people have looked at the little ‘{’ symbol on their keyboard and thought to themselves “what is this cursive bullshit?” We may not need to wonder much longer, as one divisive study implicates. I sat down with Dr. Keith Wainsborough of the Cambridge Lexicon Department, who spearheaded this study, to discuss his findings.

“One particular theory we’ve been tossing around is that they work remarkably well as mustaches on Italian chef emoticons,” he remarked. It’s an interesting theory, and certainly appears accurate when you take a look at his research:

“We can also make him happy,” stated Wainsborough.

(}^:)=3

Although the symbol’s many (2) uses have been established, it remains to be shown just what this symbol actually is.

“I like to think someone saw a parenthesis and thought, ‘Hey! Why not this, but worse?’” Dr. Wainsborough commented. Since the symbol’s genesis cannot be determined, there remains no tangible evidence determining the symbol’s name, either. Once again, the task fell upon Wainsborough to solve the problem resolutely.

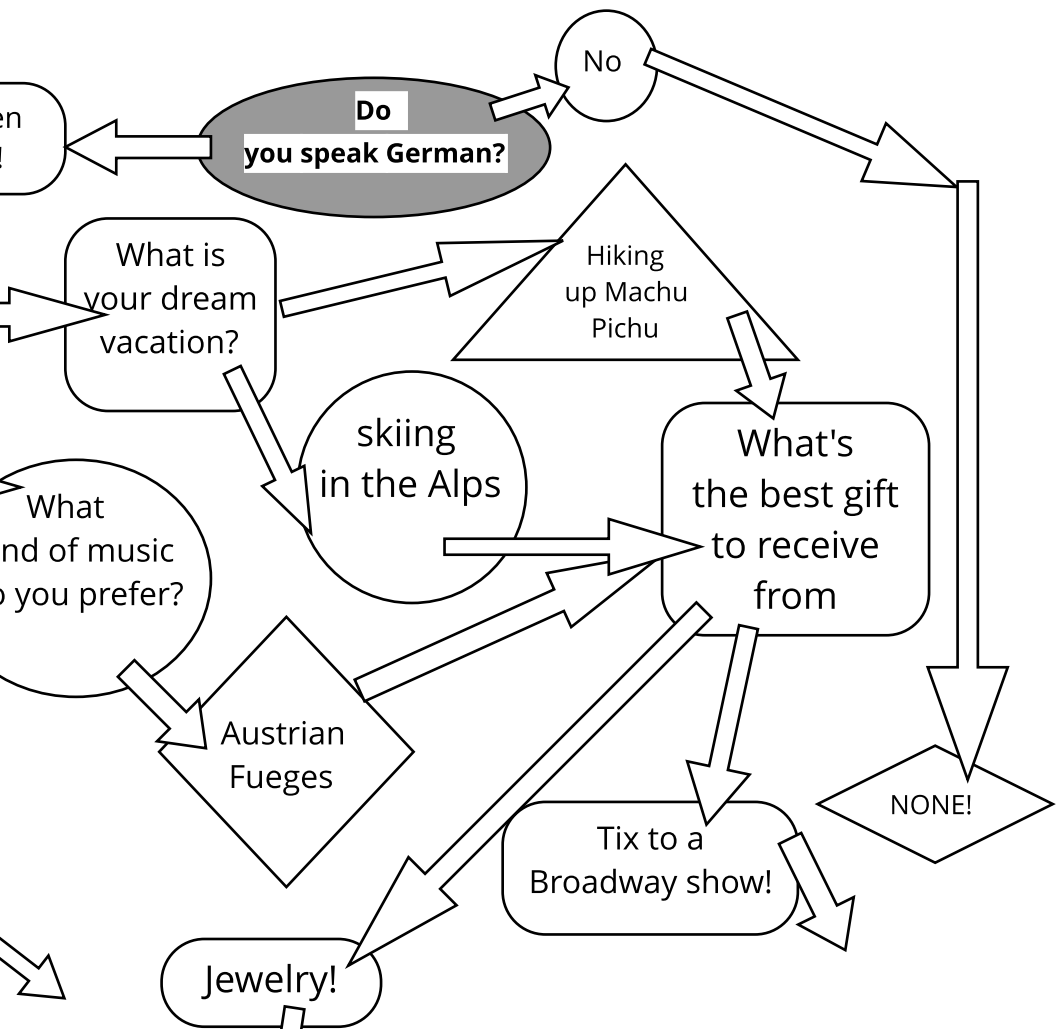

“Although convention would suggest a name be decided amongst a panel of lingual academics, I’ve put my faith in a 24-hour Twitter poll to pick among my top names for the symbol,” said Wainsborough. “Though I accidentally included an ‘add your own answer’ option and now things are just getting batshit.”

The poll ended this Monday at 8:55 p.m., with 11% of the votes for “Curly Bracket,” 26% for “Furrowed Unibrow,” and a resounding 63% of the vote in favor of “Tom Holland Sideboob,” which has been tentatively included in the 2020 Merriam-Webster dictionary.

You got Johannes Brahms! Born in 1833 "Jo" as his friends call him is the youngest of the bros. Known for his 'romantic' work, Jo would be a great match for any girl who is looking for someone to show her how much they care!!

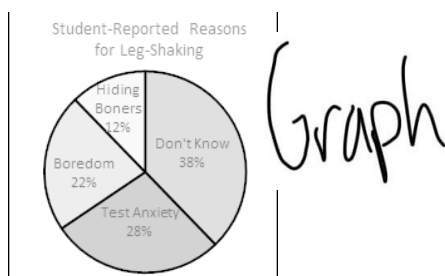

You got Johannes Gutenberg! Born in 1400 Gutty as his bros affectionately named him, is the man who can do it all. Some of his titles include blacksmith, goldsmith, inventor, publisher, and the father of literacy. Gutty would be a great match for any girl who has her own passions but still wants love!

You got Johann Bach(or Sebastian as his parents call him)!! Born in 1685 Seb is that darn middle child! One of the most famous German composers of all time, Seb is looking for a smartie who he can take out to the symphony every once in a fortnight!

Exams Voided After Leg-Bouncing Triggers Earthquake Alarms

New earthquake alarms at the city weather center went off Saturday due to the mass knee-bouncing of students taking the ACT at a local high school. The city weather center remains puzzled as to how the leg-shaking produced so much force. "No, seriously, this is physically impossible," said one employee. Several employees at the center have resigned and left town in search of "real quakes."

Some students were motivated by the seemingly impossible occurrence. "Odin was taking forever to acknowledge the sacrifices, but I knew he'd come through," one student explained. "My dad is finally proud of me," reported another. "It registered a 4.0 on the Richter Scale, but my weighted GPA is a 6.0, so beat that, motherfucker," added another.

Other students and teachers were crushed to learn that the sirens voided the testing session and they would need to come back for makeup exams. “I spend so many goddamn hours with these little shits. Fucking Christ, I don’t get paid enough,” said one teacher. The ACT sends their condolences, but for some, that won’t be enough. “We spent my whole college fund on test prep,” a senior said. Another explained that by the time he finally gets his exam score, the Ivy League early action windows will be closed. Both students now plan to “drop out and do YouTube.”

In any case, the city apologizes for the alarms and stresses that the citizens are in no danger. But they don’t know what I do: the alarms actually went off because [REDACTED]

TEEN DIC^(K)TIONARY

So you're 13! Congratulations, mazel tov, feliz Navidad. Welcome to Teendom. Being a teen has many benefits, including a brand new lexicon of swear words for you to enjoy. Please enjoy this helpful guide to your new teen vocabulary.

Fuck:

This is an easy one. Just substitute "fuck" for just about any noun, verb, or adjective to make your parents very peeved. You can fuck this word howfuckin much fuck want. Isn't that fuck?

Shit:

Just like Play Doh, shit is fun to play with AND to eat. This one's the word for the nasty stuff that comes out of your butt, mouth, and occasionally, eyes. Shout out this word whenever you stub your toe, stub your friend's toe, or die.

Bitch:

This one be crazy. Make sure to experiment with all of this word's unique variations. Try the latin "Beyotch" when coyly addressing a close friend. Use the Trans-Germanic "Biiiiiiiitch" whenever you encounter an "Oh no you didn't"-type situation. Here at Phony Magazine, we recommend the French imperfect past participle "Byeeyoink" for all your bitchin' needs.

Shit/Fuck/Titty/Fuck/Motherfucker:

Bust this bad boy out 24/7! Gatt gatt! Nail those PansyCock Anal TaintGoblins to wall!

Damn:

Stop. Some words are just too hurtful to say.

Dear David Slack,

You ruined my life. I was eight years old when I saw the episode. I was sweaty, fat, and bored. I remember not wanting to watch, but not being able to resist; Attribute it to whatever you want, but I personally blame it on high blood pressure.

I was having a good time until Brushogun, the cursed painter, came onto the screen. A man made of paper and ink and stained by darkness. I tried to watch the episode again for reference, but it made me feel prediabetic again. The episode can only be described as a masterful abomination (credit where credit is due) that scarred me for life. Brushogun essentially sells his soul in hopes of bringing to life his drawing of a non-existent woman he wants to romance and becomes a demon. It was engaging. It was artistic. It made me feel like I was gonna puke up the seven slices of Papa John's (pre-incident) that I had for dinner.

All that being said, I forgive you, David Slack, I've been able to recover and lead a life. But please never make something like that again. Although, I don't know if you even have time because you're probably busy working on Law and Order, watching reruns of Teen Titans with your wife, or plucking your beard out with tweezers.

Sincerely,

Jeylin

Kids, don't VAPE

I walk into my old high school, the first time in years. As a proud alumni, I am excited to check out all my old haunts. I wonder if my name is still written on the bathroom stall? I go inside the restroom to check, and also to take a shit.

With hope, I stroll into my old bathroom. I expect very little, but soon I notice steam rising from a stall. "Excuse me?" I say to myself. What could be happening within the walls of that stall? It was beyond my imagination. Perhaps this child had dreams of being a rockstar, and was using a smoke machine for a homemade video, something a la Motley Crue's "Smoking in The Boys Room." Could it be? "That'd be cool," I say to myself.

In my excitement, I bust down the door of the stall, only to find a boy 15 years of age, clinging to his Vape Machine.

"What's this?" I say to myself, and also out loud.

"What are you doing?" the boy asks, artfully dodging my pointed question.

I was not fated to get any answers out of this boy, but after a long conversation with the principal, I learned that this boy was vaping, purely for the enjoyment of it!

Now, I don't know how this whole "vaping" trend got started, but I find it disturbing to see the future leaders of America inhaling flavored water vapor. I cannot stand it!

Okay. Can you kids please tell me what the hell is wrong with a regular cigarette? Are you too good for it? Huh, are you too cool to have to talk through a robot in your throat? Are you afraid of the big bad lung cancer? Oh, come on. This generation is a bunch of pussies.

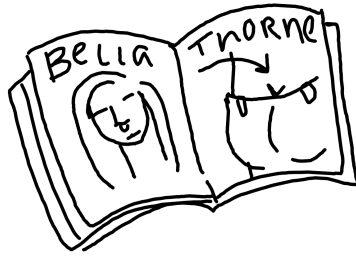

You know who smokes? Famous people. Kids like Obama, right? Even he smoked. Please, I'm begging you. Perhaps I'm not "woke" for saying this, but sometimes the old ways are better. Just smoke a goddamn cigarette. It looks so much cooler.

every teen ROMANCE fanfiction

My name is Thin White Bitch with Nice D Cups. I'm a young teen and I live in Lame Town with my parents and younger brother. I just started my first year of high school which is totally cool! The craziest thing happened the other day.

It all started before the homecoming dance. I was hoping that my crush, Pimply Long-on-Top Haircut, would ask me to the dance. I had been dropping hints all throughout the hallway. First I wrote Post-it notes with my name on them. Then, when that didn't work, I upgraded to notecards. Eventually the hallway became littered with two-by-fours with "Thin White Bitch with Nice D Cups" written in Sharpie.

Unfortunately, Pimply Long-on-Top Haircut didn't take the hint. He chose to attend the dance with Mushroom-Nose Cunt with Grapefruit Butt. I was devastated. Even my favorite magazine, Only Bella Thorne's Buttcrack, couldn't cheer me up.

Luckily, my amazing friends, Smells like Soup and Who Cares were bachelorettes too. We decided that we wouldn't let stupid boys keep us from having fun!

Luckily, Smells Like Soup's cute older brother was able to drive us in his tricked out mid-sized car with a passenger door that is a different color than the rest of the car.

We arrived fashionably late which was perfect! We walked in and I couldn't believe it! Jacob Sartorius's Wet Shits was playing the dance! My favorite band! We danced forever until we were at the front of the gym right by the stage. During their best song, Ryan Seacrest's Podcast, the cutest member, Tiny Penis met my eyes. He reached out his arm and pulled me onstage. We sang together. He pulled me close, in front of everyone, and said, "This Penis is Tiny for you."
